

Hello students!

Thank you for your patience today as we worked out some issues with technology. We looked forward to improving and meeting with all of you tomorrow starting at 9am!

A few updates:

Google classroom links - We know the links sent to you today did not work, Mr. King has enrolled you in those Google classrooms listed on your schedule so by tomorrow if you copy and paste those links(or see them on your google classroom page) they should take you to the correct classes.

Orientation powerpoint - If you missed any of today's morning session please click here to review the welcome overview of the structure of the day.

Naming in Zoom- You must sign in with your full first and last name in order to be admitted otherwise you will be left in the waiting room.

Tomorrow's schedule is listed below. Please note there is only one link for all sessions so even if you are late please click the first link.
